General information

StainlessSteelFocus is published monthly and provides news, comment, and analysis of both local and international stainless steel markets. Contents include company news and company profiles, market supply and demand, forecasts, prices, processing and processors, applications and users. Particular attention is paid to the raw material markets – nickel, chrome and stainless steel scrap – which provide key insights into likely stainless steel market movements.

StainlessSteelFocus is the only stainless steel publication that provides this vital data and analysis 10 times a year to senior management and key decision makers within companies active in the stainless steel industry with Europe, the Far East and the Americas.
